EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with David Parker on 8/31/06.

The application has been amended as follows: In Claims 23, 25 and 26 change the claim dependency to claim 21 since claim 22 is canceled.

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The claims are drawn to a method making nanoparticles by forming an oil-in-water microemulsion and cooling it off. The o/w microemulsion is formed by melting a solid surfactant material, combining it with a molecule of interest and allowing the microemulsion to form spontaneously without the need of vigorous stirring, or homogenation. These steps of vigorous stirring and homogenation are required for the creation of nanoparticles using oil-in-water emulsion. This can be seen in example 3 of Friedman (USPN 6,004,566). Emulsion and micro-emulsions are distinct compositions with separate properties. The instant invention produces solid nanoparticles while skipping the steps of stabilizing the surfactant and aqueous phases of the emulsion. Further the instant invention produces solid particles while the art produces semi-solid or liquid oily droplets. Also the claims produce solid nanoparticle without the need for aqueous dilution. Aqueous dilution is a requirement of the Gasco references in the cooling step, while the instant method directly cools the heated emulsion forming nanoparticles. For these reason the instant method is novel and non-obvious over the art.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
